Safe, Efficient Transporters of Liquid Asphalt and Petroleum
24 Hours/Day – 7 Days/Week
Every four years, MAA member Fort Myer Construction Corporation has the opportunity to provide milling and paving work along Pennsylvania Avenue toward the White House for the District Department of Transportation (DDOT) to prepare the route for Inauguration Day. The asphalt industry has the ability to totally renew a roadway overnight to avoid impacting daily activities of the public.

A Message from the President

Maintaining infrastructure has become a high priority both in Maryland and nationwide. The Maryland Asphalt Association (MAA) continues to fight for funding to perpetuate the superior quality of the state’s roadways and to ensure that they remain safe and efficient for the traveling public.

Twenty-six years ago, the industry evolved from the Marshall Mix Design to the Superpave Volumetric Design system with a guarantee for improving rut resistance and durability. The road to improved durability required the Superpave Volumetric Design system be complemented with performance tests, but a high correlation to field performance has eluded many of the testing protocols under analysis. Through innovation, many states have developed their own performance-related tests.

The future shines bright for new methods like Balanced Mix Design (BMD). This is an enhanced approach to designing asphalt paving mixtures to achieve a satisfactory balance between rut and crack resistance. Unlike the Level I Superpave Volumetric Design, BMD focuses on optimizing mixture performance using simple mixture performance tests. BMD is expected to open the door to utilizing innovative materials and technologies to design asphalt pavements while providing agencies with a more reliable way to approve mixtures. The State of Maryland, working with its contractors and academia, is going to evaluate two tests: High-Temperature Indirect Tensile Test (IDT) for rut resistance and Ideal Cracking Test (Ideal-CT) for cracking.

Roadway safety continues to be a primary concern for our industry. Working in such close proximity to traffic, the chance for contact is high. Distracted drivers, impaired drivers, and operator error all contribute to possible interaction between workers and fast-moving projectiles weighing as much as 35 tons. All of this is amplified when the operation is being conducted at night. The MAA is working with legislators to pass improved work zone legislation and we will continue our fight to keep our workers safe.

Even with the increased risk, we are proud of the fact that many of our paving operations occur at night, especially in urban areas. We do this to minimize the impact on the traveling public. Virtually every night during the paving season, a paving crew is able to mill and/or replace a mile or more of pavement, restoring the geometry, ride, and friction of a roadway to a new condition before the traveling public wakes up.

At MAA, we are forward thinking, anticipating roadblocks and embracing new technologies that will improve the lives and businesses of our members. We will continue to work on our members’ behalf and for the prosperous future of our industry.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

EXTRAORDINARY PEOPLE BUILDING STRONG COMMUNITIES
Crushed stone, sand, gravel — since 1957, our products have been essential elements in almost every kind of construction, forming the foundation of every community as new roads, new schools, new homes, new businesses and more. Our people are the key to building strong communities, as they devote their time, their expertise and their passion to a variety of causes, from education to the arts, from health care to the environment — improving the communities where we live.
